BALL PLAYER LOSES $400 BONIIS AND FILES SUIT TO RECOVER IT

Slapnicks of the Brewers Claims He Lacked Just One Game of Winning the Bonus Provided for in His Contract, and Manager Wouldn't Allow Him Chance to Win Needed Game; Therefore the Suit.

BY FRANK G. MENKE.

The football season has skidded of paper.

Was Just One Victory Shy.

The flotball season has skidded down along the pages of history, we will shift the spotlight in the general direction of the front-bitten baseball diamond and tell you the story concerning Cyril Stappicka.

Cyril acrobais during the chilly months of the year, but springtime finds him cavorting around wearing a baseball uniform instead of flesh colored tights; it finds him swinging on some bars and rings; it finds him spliting into the palms of his mitts instead of rubbing resin therein.

Well, Cyril got a job as pitcher for the Milwaukee club in the spring of this year. Before the documents were signed that made Cyril a Brewer, be thought his twirling services were worth so much per seemon. The club owners thought he valued the power of his arm about $400 tome, and they told him so. Cyril pouted. The club owners more obdurate.

In the end, declares Cyril, the club owners speke to him thusly:

"We will give you a contract calling for flushes contract we will meet a provisio to the effect that if you win one half of your games we will pay you the extra $400. What say:

Cyril said he said that wint the club owners said was perfectly all right with him, whereupon, Cyril clutched a BASEBALL fans should have one more treat in the game at Rio Grande park on Sunday afternoon between the Fourth Field artillery and the touring Kansas City leaguers. The soldiers are particularly chesty and want to play on a vinner-take-all basis. They believe that they have a faster aggregation than the professionals and stake their faith and their wallets on Oronicker. With a military band in attendance, there will be some doings. The Leaguers defeated the 20th infantry in a corking good game while on their way westward.

SOCCER is catching on all right and it is likely that the Fourth Artillery eleven will get into the local series Sunday with a game either at Fort Bliss or Camp Cotton with the 16th infantry. The soccer fans are awaiting the return of the 20th infantry to Fort Bliss as that regiment has a good soccer team. When the 20th gets back, steps will be taken to organize a league. The United Empire players are feeling good over their Turkey day victory at the expense of the 16th infantry and assert that they have "hit their stride; look out for our dust."

FRED WINSOR announces that there is a prospect of his featherweight scrapper, Johnny Arrousey, getting a bout at Denver in the near future with some good boy of prominence. Fred says that if Johnny gets the chance, he will take the prominence from the other fellow.

ARMY plays the Navy, this afternoon, at New York, and the officers stationed along the border are trailing along with the cadets to trim, the middles. The game is creating an unusual amount of interest this year, owing to the great difficulty of doping out a prospective winner.

JOE STECHER, the Nebraska farm-J er, made good in his wrestling match with Hussane on Thursday night, but Hussane isn't Mahmout and the farmer will have to take care of Gotch's protege before he can claim a match with Gotch. Mahmout is reported to be in his way to this country from Europe and will likely be matched with Stecher on his SEATTLE has sports both behind and out of the bars. Two teams of prisoners from the county jail were announced to play a game of football on Thanksgiving day and thousands of tickets were sold. One published announcement was that a former unnamed Harvard star would play in the game and the Harvard alumni raised a fuss, took the case into court and got a restraining order, forbidding the contest.

SYRACUSE football backers got badly bumped at Missoula on Thursday. They "got down" rather heavily on their belief that the Orange would win by a margin of 40 points. And the Orange didn't.

Ertle May Be the Bantam Champion -:||:- -:||:- -:||:- -:||:-Must Fight Holder 20 Rounds First

BY RINGSIDE.

EW YORK. Nov. 17.—Johnny "Kewpie" Ertle, 114 pounds of fighting energy, is not universally recognized as the hentamweight thampion; but be soon may be. He is not waging a verbal battle to establish his right to the tille, either. He is making a two-fist fight for it.

A month age Ertle meandered into iswu, unknown. Today he is the most sought after boxer in the east. He has engaged in two fights here, and with each bout his popularity, increased, Already he has been proclaimed a miniature Jack Dillon—which is saying a good deal. "St. Paul Catamount is nother name applied to him.

Ertle is a compactly built bit of fighting machinery. Constructed close to the ground, he braces himself by transfiling his feet, and keeps boring in all the time. There is no left-up in his fighting plan.

We have been probe to acknowledge release to his victory over 'Rid' Williams, the titleholder, by virtue of a four fought a four round exhibition from the interest of a champlenship affair, linament in williams was two pounds over the recognized bantamweight standard. But after watching Ertle in action we are willing to admit that 'Rid' Williams is not the best bantamweight in the world, even though he holds the champlenship.

Here is a march that would draw a zood dized house and the outcome would settle the controversy raging in the bantamweight on the bantamweight of the path. Best when for all property and all other of God's gifts.

Asked if he thought it required as much ramsness to play basecall as football. Honor replied: "It takes every bit as much. Every football layer can't play fascenil up to the standard, and I might add fant every bull player can't play football."

But if takes never and gameness to have a man is sent to prison for life standard, and I might add fant every bull player can't play football. "But if takes never and gameness to face a pitcher's speed and take your relations and a null player must carry more injuries and stand up under than one in good hon without or excuse. I guess I told you a hout me going to get a divorce by the form Gussy on the grounds of she runnings way from home and going to live with her old man and I made it up in my mind to get a divorce but I seen thought it wouldent handly be fare with out giveling her i more chance so ball in bare feet was played by the wouldent handly be fare where it wouldent handly be fare because they wouldent leave me table of the back field players had to remove their shoes and stockings in or-der to make any progress.

Was me he tride to game the door in the min for the door and one to be considered in the rain and the first work here it wouldent handly be fare without giveling her i more chance so ball in bare feet was played by the wouldent handly be fare without giveling on the state and to get a divorce but I seem thought the door and syst open this door or it ill my mind to get a divorce but I seem thought the come late of the stares and the says where Guss's Brother. So I started for the stares and couldent talk. Well Steve if I had of been a first work then done the work of the mind the says was been supported to the stare and he says from the wind to get a divorce but I seem thought the come in the stare and the says was constituted to the stare and he says from the stare and he says from the stare and he says from the stare and he Makes a Face at Gussy's Brother.

So I says all right then I will say a good huy to you and she dident answer nothing and I bet she was crying and couldent talk. Well Steve if I had of been fixed up to K but jest them her brother started yazeping down to the fit a foun then every thing could of been fixed up to K but jest them her brother started yazeping down to the fit of the starce and he says Fye cent for the pollice and if you aint out of bere in I min you will go to the started yazeping down to be start no fuss because it noight scare Gussy so I left the house and went out them who I was because it noight scare Gussy so I left the house and went out. Her brother was standing in the window whos I got out on the st will I made a face at him and he snuck away from the window.

Well when I got hone and thot it over I seen where I hadent gave her a fare chance because she was probly jest a bout to give in when her brother made that stail about the politice. So I dident go to see no atty, find day but that night I called Guser up on the phone and she answered the phone her self and I says a bout that things over so she says they wasnet nething to talk over and I says a bout the direct of me you get out of town and then I will sew you right back again for crule treatment and not supering me far divorce but if you want to get in the phone and I kept trying to get her in the phone and I kept trying to get her in the phone and she answered the phone her self and I says a bout the divorce but if you want to get in the phone and she want to get in the phone and I kept trying to get her produce and find out. She says if you sew me I will sew you right back again for crule treatment and not supporting me she hume, up and I kept trying to get her brother and the would over the majority of the phone.

Goen to See a Lawyer.

So the next A M. that was yest. I went down and seen a atty, and I says a bout the phone will be down and seen a atty, and I says a bout the phone and I kept trying to get her phone her phone the phon will see you for desertion. The hard will said see you for her hack but they wouldent answer the hack but they wouldent answer the hack but they wouldent answer the hard.

So the next A. M. that was yest. I went down and seen a atty, and I says what I wanted and ast him wenther she could get a divorce like she says she probly could but if I jest hade low and done nothing and she dident come back to me I could get a divorce on desertion in ay. Howse that for law Steve when you aint done no harm and your wife leaves you and then you can't get me divorce or get married to no one for a 7r. and probly salare to deth in the mean times liveling a lean and the atty, alies says it would have to stay in Chi. because if I left Chi. Lusse would nobly hear a bout it and move buck in to the flat and then she could get a divorce in at yr. and a big bunk of mancy. So the atty, says the best time I dont know how a mans going to make up with your wise when had not her left me and then she could get a divorce in at yr. and a big bunk of mancy. So the atty, says the best time I dont know how a mans going to make up with your wise when he won't talk to you over the phone and won't ace you or nothing. So it looks like a fine fature for me Steet his counting yr, liveing a loan in a flat and in body to get your meals for you and the way tim dishs looks new you wouldent never know they was white onet and last Thurs, was Thanksgiveing almost was 3 bottle of been and wouldent never know they was white onet and last Thurs, was Thanksgiveing dimer was a bottle of been and so had not her large was provided to the provided that he way time dished to be thankfulf for hay Slove and my thanksgiveing dimer was a bottle of been and so had not her large was bottle of been and so had not her large was bottle of been and so had not her large was bottle of been and so had not her large was bottle of been and so her beat when lim in a hurry to get to be because they aint been nothing eisay the head of the best in the sheet looks like it had a job of f weight of opinion gives her this title. The Norwegian nurse defeated Mrs. Bundy in straight sets on the asphalt courts of the California Tennis Clubhere. Mrs. Bundy had been considered the greatest soman exponent of the game, although she has not been very active in recent years. Her greatest victories came in 1904 and 1906, when she captured the British championship along with everything in sight in America. She was the only American who ever won the English title. Miss Bjursted's trip here was largely the result of the feeling when she won all the principal titles Jast summer that Mrs. Bundy in the field there might have been a different result. The visitor was at a disadvantage because she had never played on asphalt, while Mrs. Bundy's game was developed under suc conditions.

Rivals Play Similarly.

because she had never played on asphalt, while Mrs. Bundy's game was developed under such conditions.

Rivals Play Similarly.

Any person who saw these two women players in action would be forcibly impressed with the similarity of their styles. Both of them have consistent back court games. The forehand drive of Mrs. Bundy is made on the same play as that of Miss Bjurstedt, although it carriers a little more depth with less speed. This is due to the sharp top given to the ball by the latter, while the former hits her ball with the full face of the racquet.

Both favor their forehand, which results in a comparative weak devalopment on the backhand. To cover up this valuerable territory they crowd far over to the left side of the court, permitting but little opportunity for a placement except in a sharp cross court to their backhand.

Mrs. Bundy owes her long list of triumphs to her consistent play from the base line, scalinat which the majority of women players succumb. She seldom tried for kills or clean sies. Her policy was to take no undue chances and to give her opponent plenty of opportunity to miss the ball by returning everything within reach. The keynole of her success was that she could return the hall more often, with greater speed and accuracy, than the women pitted against her in the tournaments. If her opponents had developed acgressive net game to meet this style of play she would have hed more difficulty in winning champlonships. For although her drives were effective against a haseliner became of their depth and accuracy, they would have been equally ineffective against a net player, where met shoulder bigh they could be killed with greater ease.
